Attend Camping Demonstration at Rumford

erty-six 4-H club leaders and Farm au project leaders attended the can-demonstration at Rumford, Satur-July 7, in the agricultural room of mens High School. Nine communent delegates. The demonstration in charge of Miss Watters, county agent. Fruits, vegetables, and meat canned, using the hot water bath pressure cooker, illustrating the cold and hot pack. These leaders will hold similar demonstrations in their community open to the public.

Club Field Day, Songo Lake, Aug. 2 Wednesday, August 2, 11 AM. Club members, leaders, parents and 4-11 year olds assemble on the shores of Songo Lake, Bethel, for their annual picnic. The program will start at 11 AM, standard time. Club members will have a chance to enter into track events, miscellaneous games and water sports. Prizes are being sent out to the winners. July 1, Club members send in their entries for the big day. A third day of prizes will be given to the club members with the largest number of events. The season's prize will be a watermelon and this year, a peck of peanuts.

Enrollment

Oxford County leads in enrollment. On July 15, the enrollment was 946. Waldo County is second with 940. There are still more clubs to enroll.

Connor, Bethel; Knudette, Norway; and Mrs. N. Dillingham, Bethel.

Cleaning Straw Hats Presents a Problem

White straw hats such as ball caps, campaign hats and uniforms, offer a particular problem to keep. They sell so fast that a year's stock of them cannot be cleaned and as a result they are not always possible to avoid the difficulty by going handwashed.

To keep such hats looking well for many months or longer, in case you have a lot of them, the equipment needed is not too great, some sort of hot bucket, a block of soda ash, and patience. Helen Spang, a clothing specialist for the Extension Service, offers the following suggestions:

Cleaning Straw Hats Presents a Problem

Straw hats such as legions, masques and milans, offer a problem in cleaning. They are so easily soiled that they cannot be cleaned as easily as other hats. It is best to avoid the difficulty by going hatless.

Keep such hats looking well calls for money or labor. In case you have money, the equipment needed is mild soap, some sort of hat block, a bleach, detergent, and patience. Helen Spaulding, clothing specialist for the Extension Service, offers the following suggestions:

The hat block may be a corking pot, with an old turkish towel, for example. A certain amount of ingenuity in manipulating the hat at different angles against the ironing board with one hand while playing a warm iron with the other will take care of the brim. The soap is used in solution in lukewarm water. If the hat is closely woven, it may be dipped in the basis of soap suds and scrubbed gently with a cloth. Loose weaves slip too much if soaked. They may be sponged lightly with a cloth dampened in the suds. Care must be taken not to separate the strands of straw by rubbing.

When the hat is clean, rinse it thoroughly in the shade to drain, but before it dries, place it on the block and smooth down into shape. Spread the brim in nearly the desired shape as possible. Allow the hat to finish drying.

Some 'sports type' hats will need no special work on the firm but for those who do there is the ironing board, the steamy warm iron, and, oh yes, a tailoring cushion, and a couple of pressing cloths. The tailor's cushion offers several advantages over the ironing board. The pressing cloths are to be used between the iron and the brim.

OUTDOOR LIVING ROOMS EXCEL IN RESTFULNESS

With the sky for a ceiling and trees and shrubs for walls, even the most charming indoor living room cannot compete with the restfulness and beauty of the outdoor one, believes Edna M. Cobb, home management specialist for the Extension Service, who sketches the following word picture:

"This outdoor living room may be under an old apple tree, the branches bent down to give just the right amount of privacy. It may be a green lawn bordered with shrubbery, or it may be in the form of a flag stone terrace at the kitchen door with an awning stretched over it."

"It should seem to be a part of the house itself and not too far away from it. The design should agree with the rest of the house. With a simple cottage type of house, we would not expect to see an elaborate formal garden living room, or one too large and imposing to overshadow the house itself."

"Shade and seclusion are important requirements for this outdoor living room. They can be obtained with tall, growing shrubs and evergreens. The same hospitality as chairs drawn up before the fireplace on a winter's evening. A circular seat built around the trunk of a tree suggests this same outdoor feeling."

"If the budget allows, a bird bath, a sun dial or an ornamental fountain add to the beauty of this al-fresco living room."

Good Pastures Pay Well
Records prove that a high producing dairy cow requires as much energy to be supplied to her body as a horse that is working hard every day. In spite of this fact many cows are expected to produce milk on a poor pasture.

There are two ways of supplying the necessary nutrients for production. One is to supply the dry pasture which continues after a few months and to grain heavily all summer. The other is to improve the pasture by fertilization and rotation.

As in Georgia we have all heard of the cow that has had her milk pail stolen. It is a fact that the cow that has her milk pail stolen is a cow that has been milked on a poor pasture. The cow that has her milk pail stolen is a cow that has been milked on a poor pasture.

GOD'S PLAN

Let us stop for a moment and think for a while of the part that we play on this earth. Whether king or lowly our birth.

The picture we draw takes us back to the time when this earth had no form and was void. But God had a plan which he told to his Son.

Of the power to create by His throne, And they worshipped their Master divine. While Lucifer—Son of the music sublime.

In his heart grew a hatred for Jesus that day. Because he had no part in this plan. And he made up his mind he would stop (if he could).

All God's pleasure to be on this strand. So he gathered angels and whispered to them of the plans which he knew God had laid. And he told how he knew more than Jesus, God's Son.

Some listened while he told of his skill and might. Pondering they owed all to their God. So enraptured were they; one-third allowed themselves.

To desert from their knowledge in God. But God is the Maker; it pays Him to heed. For perfection he desired, and 'twas God's plan.

A NEW DEAL IN RADIO

The American radio-broadcasting structure must be rebuilt. It is a failure. No one is satisfied with its performance. Least of all the listeners, the owners of fourteen million receiving sets representing an investment of close to a billion dollars.

Ask a hundred of them at random what they think of radio. Ninety-five will curse the endless stream of sales talks. The depression in the receiving set business is worse, far worse than in other lines. Poor programs and too much advertising brought on the slump.

Manufacturers complain they keep on at present conducted is a failure. If the listeners are dissatisfied, if the broadcasters are losing money, if the manufacturers complain they keep on with a system that is an acknowledged failure? Why not have a New Deal in radio?

Representative H. S. Palmer had these things in mind when he introduced a resolution proposing a Congressional commission to study the broadcasting situation and frame legislation that would make the business satisfactory to at least two out of three factors concerned. Action along these lines should be taken at the next session of Congress.

HOME PAPER NEVER FORGETS

Someone has well said that your home paper never loses interest in you. This possibly you never have given a passing thought. No matter whether you like the newspaper or not, he likes you. If he is true to his profession and publishes a paper for the people, he allows no personal matter to interfere with his work of news-gathering. He may meet you as a stranger, yet along with his best and dearest friends chronicle your success and sorrows wherever you may be. Those who would forget you but for your home paper, are ever reminded of your existence by some item in the paper where you spent your boyhood days. Others may deceive and defraud you, but the home paper never forgets you. Possibly you may not always deserve it, but a newspaper on the right lines has no pets and should it any time say things that cause your fur to turn the wrong way, study a moment and see if it has not at various times said many nice things of which you fail to give it credit.

The billion invested in receiving sets is not paying dividends. From the intelligent listeners' standpoint, radio is a failure.

Nor does the fifty millions invested in broadcasting stations pay dividends. The depression in the receiving set business is worse, far worse than in other lines. Poor programs and too much advertising brought on the slump.

Manufacturers complain they keep on at present conducted is a failure. If the listeners are dissatisfied, if the broadcasters are losing money, if the manufacturers complain they keep on with a system that is an acknowledged failure? Why not have a New Deal in radio?

GUNN FAMILY REUNION

More than forty relatives of James B. Gunn of New Orleans, La., held a reunion Sunday, in South Paris, being in honor of his visit after an absence of twenty-five years.

Dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunham, Main Street, after which there were exercises which included a poem written for the occasion by Houshene Gardner Gregg Gates of Norway and a response by James B. Gunn in behalf of himself and wife, who motored 1800 miles to greet their relatives.

The afternoon was spent socially at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Everett, on Elm Hill.

In the party were:

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stevens of North Stoughton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Gunn and son of New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Alida Noel, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hall, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Weston, Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien and daughter Jeanette, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gunn, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morgan, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moffet, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose O'Brien, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gammon and son, Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snell, Berlin, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fothergill, Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunham, South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scott and daughter, South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Everett and son, South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Gunn of New Orleans, Louisiana, after 25 years away.

Friends and kindred give you welcome, welcome home to your happy day.

You have never been longer from home, since the time you went away.

Did the old New Hampshire mountains, the "White Hills" that you once knew, in the childhood days of childhood, did those mountains call to you?

While you lingered in the Southland, and the seasons came and went, did your heart long for the Northland?

Did you know the love we felt? No doubt there are many changes, for the years have swiftly flown, but we are the same folks, really, tho' we may have older grown.

We are pleased to know the chosen one, who walks with you down life, and give you our warm welcome to you, James, your kind and wife, —Houshene Gardner Gregg Gates.

CROWD SEARCHED FOR LOST BOY

Four blasts of the fire whistle at 3:15 Thursday evening called out a crowd to search for Earle R. Clifford, aged 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Clifford, Pine Street. The boy seemingly dropped from sight after five o'clock. Not appearing at supper time, the telephone came into use and Mr. Clifford and neighbors worked on the case until sunset when a general alarm was sounded. The boy was found at 9 o'clock, on the West Paris road, and four miles from home, after parties had searched for him on Pine Street and covered all roads leading from town.

Young Earle, who never strays far from home met boy friends in Market Square and went to their house on Wheel Street. While returning home, about 5 o'clock, he went on High Street and planned to walk down the railroad from Nichols Street crossing. Mixed up in direction, he went in the opposite direction, toward West Paris, until reaching Jackson's crossing, a distance of four miles. Taking the highway, he hiked through Hazy Hollow to Boutelle's Tavern on the eastern road, then got his bearings and turned in the direction of South Paris and supper. He was picked up by one of the searching parties near Harry Dunham's place. The boy was footsore, also hungry, after the long trip, and happy to be taken into the automobile.

A recall was sounded on the fire alarm at 9:15 and the excitement was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tufts, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burgess and daughter Gertrude, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tyler and son Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Hosen McKay, parents of Mrs. Leon Burgess, Mrs. Harold Anderson and daughter, Helen, Miss Ruth Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Anderson enjoyed a picnic dinner Sunday at Leon Tufts' camp on the shore of Sand Pond.

As one of the measures in the economy program, only one mail delivery will be made by the village carriers on Tuesdays, through July, August and September.

This delivery will be made after the arrival of the forenoon train on that day.

Nine or more scouts from South Paris troop and assistant scout master Milford Chandler will spend a week at Camp Hinds in Raymond about the first of August.

Miss Carlene Farnham, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at Central Maine General Hospital on July 12 is reported to be making good recovery.

On Monday, the Converse-Mason Co. started operating evenings until 9 o'clock. This is expected to keep up until fall.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

About thirty friends and relatives attended the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley, Thursday evening, July 18th. Some of the guests playing croquet and pitching quoits on the lawn, which was lighted by colored lights hung from the trees; others played bridge while a few amused themselves with jig-saw puzzles.

It was quite exciting when one of the puzzles proved to be an enlarged snapshot picture of Miss Marion Wheeler and William Walker of Norway. The picture was taken under the rose arbor of the Dudley home and was the work of Bicknell, photographer, of Portland. Under the picture was the word "Engaged."

In this novel and unique way was the engagement of the young people announced.

A buffet lunch, coffee and punch were served.
